PRESS RELEASE

Keep your hands off the sowiet inscriptions at the Reichstag!

The german member of parliament Johannes Singhammer (Munich, CSU /Conservative Party) demands that the graffitis at the Reichstag that were left over by the victorious Sowiet soldiers during the liberation from Hitler-Fascism in 1945 should be removed. Memembers of the Conservative parties CDU / CSU want to file a petition at the Parliament (Bundestag) supporting this issue.

The inscriptions must stay where they are!

The memento / reminder for the 8th of May 1945 are today more relevant than ever!

Since the day when on the roof of the Reichstag the Red Banner was waving, we celebrate the 8th of May as the day of liberation from Hitler-Fascism. And we celebrate this day in common with all the peoples of the world!

In contrary to this, only one country had nothing but revanche on its mind.

From day one after their downfall, the ladies and gentlemen at the board of directors at banks and in the industry, the successors of the architects of Auschwitz and Buchenwald sporting the german flag, have been busy working for their golden future. And that can only be achieved in the third attempt for their race for world power.

By the annexation of the GDR, the last rest of limitations put upon them by the Potsdam Agreement as losers of the Second World War was put away with. The old big landowners have seized possession of their land on the territory of the GDR again in 1990.

With the destruction of the better of the two german States, with the destruction of its antifascist tradition and of its culture, the liberation from Fascism was reversed.

In the whole of Europe it is nothing but the FRG that annexes countries, fans the flames of war, destabilizes economies, moves State frontiers, conquers regions - only to reach the aim of becoming Europe's superpower.

Therefore we say at the 8th of May:

Thank you, Sowiet Soldiers!

You liberated us from these germans!
